National Lipid Association APPLICATION FOR ENDORSEMENT OF PROGRAM

In conjunction with the American Board of Clinical Lipidology (ABCL) and Accreditation Council for Clinical Lipidology (ACCL), the National Lipid Association (NLA) is responsible for establishing and/or recognizing focused medical education content that meets the ABCL and ACCL certification requirements. Certification candidates are required to participate in NLA activities or lipid education and training programs endorsed by the NLA to qualify for the ABCL or ACCL certification exam.

The education program must be certified for continuing education or continuing medical education hours prior to submission for NLA recognition. The NLA recognizes only continuing education hours relating to lipid education and training.

NOTE: Education program endorsement by the NLA shall in no way imply NLA co-sponsorship, joint sponsorship or CME accreditation of the program. In addition, the presentations and opinions expressed during the program shall in no way be construed as policy or advice of the NLA or its affiliates.
