SATELLITE SYMPOSIA GUIDELINES

Scientific Sessions

The National Lipid Association (NLA) has established that independently developed CME/CE-certified satellite symposia held in conjunction with the scientific meetings of the NLA are valuable opportunities to provide continuing education for our members and meeting participants. In this regard, we are pleased to offer satellite symposia opportunities in conjunction with our 2017 Scientific Sessions.

Satellite symposia curriculum include educational topics that complement or supplement the NLA scientific program agenda, addressing educational gaps preventing optimal patient care.

The following guidelines provide important information regarding hosting a satellite symposium in conjunction with the 2017 Scientific Sessions, including the proposal creation and application processes. Please contact the NLA Program Development department directly should there be any questions or further information required. We hope to see you in Philadelphia!
